

Spill in Minden, Louisiana Requires SRP Environmental, LLC's Emergency Response Team

Accidents and catastrophes happen despite safety precautions and the best of intentions. Fires, raging storms, floodwaters, and human errors can and will continue to affect our lives.

On December 6th, SRP Environmental, LLC's Emergency Response Team was called in to monitor, contain, and remediate a diesel spill occurring at a commercial location in Minden, Louisiana. Our team arrived on scene and found fluids running across the pavement and toward storm drains.

As darkness became daylight, the team continued working to assess all the areas affected, monitor the progress, and achieve full remediation to reduce the impact and return the site to its original condition.

On Site SRP's Team worked through the night and into the day to remediate the spill.

Like it never happened.....team efforts returned the site to original conditions.
